SUPREME COURT SET ASIDE CONVICTION OF ARMY OFFICER

MAJOR SHEPARD, CONVICTED OF MURDER OF WIFE, TO GET NEW TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—A new trial was granted today by the supreme court to Major Charles A. Shepard, army surgeon, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife after she was reported to have made a dying declaration that he poisoned her. The court held the alleged statement of Mrs. Shepard did not constitute a dying declaration because it was not "spoken without hope of recovery and in the shadow of impending death."

"Fear of even belief that illness will end in death," the opinion said, "will not avail of itself to make a dying declaration. There must be a settled hopeless expectation that death is near at hand and what is said must have been spoken in the belief of its impending presence."

Shepard was convicted of the slaying of his wife, Zenana, on the Fort Riley, Kansas, military reservation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—Major Charles A. Shepard, army surgeon, won in the supreme court today in his fight to set aside his conviction of the murder of his wife, Zenana, on the Fort Riley, Kansas, military reservation, and his sentence to life imprisonment.

The decision of the high court will have the effect of giving Dr. Shepard a new trial.

The court said the evidence offered that Mrs. Shepard had stated her husband had poisoned her had been improperly admitted.

Major Shepard contended his wife had committed suicide, and challenged the admission of evidence quoting her as charging him with poisoning her.

Life Sentence Assessed McGee In Kidnap Case

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6. (P)—George McGee was assessed a life prison sentence today by a jury of the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City. His brother, Walter, previously was sentenced to hang for the same crime.

The verdict, returned by a criminal court jury Saturday night, was regarded by Mrs. Albert Brewer, a sister of the brothers, as a "strong talking point" in efforts to obtain a pardon for Walter's death sentence.

At one time during its three hours of deliberation the jury was reported unofficially as standing 11 to 1 for the death sentence, a penalty the state had asked.

Defense attorneys were allowed 10 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

TEXAS GUINAN'S GLAMOROUS CAREER ENDED IN VANCOUVER HOSPITAL AFTER OPERATION

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 6. (P)—Funeral services for Texas Guinan will be held in New York at St. Malachi's church of which she was a member, friends said here today. The night club hostess died Sunday after an operation for intestinal trouble.

The body of Miss Guinan will be taken to New York tomorrow by George Guinan of Portland, a brother.

"I would rather have a square inch of New York than all the rest of the world," she told her manager, Eddie Barker, when she requested to be buried there. She said she wanted the public "who made me" to have an opportunity of seeing her. The body will therefore lie in state in New York and in Chicago.

Only one Texas Guinan and that meant sharp, raucous, raucous gaiety, rowdy mirth. Strangely enough, her death came with the end of the prohibition era during which she rose to prominence along the Great White Way. She blossomed out as a night club hostess in 1922, about the time when hip flasks and night clubs were gaining new popularity.

During her career on Broadway she presided over nearly a dozen night clubs, most of which were padlocked by dry agents. Many times she found herself in court on charges of liquor law violations, but she always wisecracked her way out.

Before becoming a night club hostess, Texas was a cow girl, a "coon shouter," or torch singer, a dancer and movie actress. She made scores of Western thrillers and she didn't use a double. She did all the stunts herself. After her movie career she became a vaudeville trouper, then a night club entertainer and then famous.

Married Three Times.

She was married and divorced three times. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Guinan, a brother, Tom Guinan, of New York, and a sister, Mrs. George Smith of Huntington Park, Cal. The body will be taken to New York for burial.

The robust entertainer sent the phrases, "Hello, sucker," and "Give the little girl a great big hug," virtually around the world. Born Mary Louise Cecilia Guinan in Waco, Texas, about 48 years ago, she experienced a kaleidoscope of personalities, for she was a class by herself. There was

PLANE CRASHED INTO HOUSE, KILLING FLIERS AND SEVERAL OCCUPANTS OF WRECKED HOME

SHREWSBURY, N. J., Nov. 6. (P)—An airplane accident which sent a national guard craft hurtling into a bugalow killing two airmen and five others, was under a four-fold investigation today.

A terrific explosion followed the plunge of the plane into the basement of the house yesterday, and flames, sweeping upward, burned to death five negro occupants.

The dead:

LIEUT. GEORGE R. JOHNSON, 32, South American explorer and aerial photographer.

SERGEANT ALFRED POOLE, 26, MRS. MARGARET KING, 28, JUNE KING, 5, PATRICIA KING, 2, EDWARD WILSON, 38, CORA RAGLAND, 35.

Taking off from Red Bank airport for a photographic flight the plane soon got out of control. It plunged through the rear wall of the King bungalow. The roof and wall splintered and collapsed, then the tank exploded with a roar and in a moment the house was a pyre.

A neighbor said she heard a child scream, then silence. Another plane, carrying newsmen, rushed to the scene from New York, and she didn't use a double. She did all the stunts herself. After her movie career she became a vaudeville trouper, then a night club entertainer and then famous.

ADMINISTRATION AGAIN HIKES PRICE OFFERED FOR GOLD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—The administration raised the R. F. C. price for newly mined gold to another successive new high today at $22.84 an ounce, and revealed that $2,800,000 has been paid out in purchases of the domestic metal.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction corporation, said that substantial amounts of gold have been bought in the world markets, but he declined to state the actual amount.

The administration watched the dollar slide to a new low level today but would give no hint whether its gold buying activities abroad were linked to the skidding exchange rate.

The foreign gold was bought by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York at approximately the price being paid by the RRC for domestic newly mined metal.

Jones also announced that since October 16, $93,000,000 has been loaned to closed banks for distribution to depositors.

The deposit liquidation board was formed on that date, Jones said it soon will have the state committees completed.

London dispatches told of a mysterious sale of 300,000 pounds in bar gold.

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN GRAN CHACO AREA DESPITE PEACE PLAN

(By The Associated Press.)

Headless of the League of Nations conciliation commission, planning peace strategy at Montevideo, the armies of Bolivia and Paraguay continued today thrusting bitterly at each other in their Gran Chaco jungle warfare.

Fighting was confined to small scale attacks in the area behind the Ayala roadhead reaching to the Paraguri river, the international line that has caused border disputes for 60 years.

The Paraguayan maintained a Bolivian infantry regiment was virtually annihilated yesterday as the Paraguayans gained another half mile in the Pozo FAVORITO sector near Alihuata.

The Paraguayans said that within a fortnight they have slain more than 3,000 of the enemy and gained important territory in their drive to force the foe from offensive positions within a 40-mile radius northwestward of Ayala, which has been the Bolivian goal for months.

Bulletins from Bolivia, indicating scant basis for the Paraguayan claims, class recent war activities in the war zone as minor.

From November to May major campaigns in the Gran Chaco area are impossible because of rains which make the isolated region a "green hell."

HOUSTON REFINERY EXPLOSION BRINGS DEATH TO THREE

TWO OTHERS SEVERELY BURNED IN AMERICAN PETROLEUM PLANT BLAST

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (P)—An explosion in a still at the American Petroleum Company's refinery caused the death of three workers and the severe burning of two others. The refinery is located on the Houston ship channel.

The dead, all of Houston, were: HAROLD LEE WELLS, 25, J. E. PARKER, 28, D. R. PATTON, 25.

The injured: E. R. Rawls, 25, of Pasadena. B. B. Stewart, 34, living on the oil company's property.

Hospital attendants said Rawls and Stewart probably would recover.

Clothing of the five men were developed in flames and they were hurled several yards by the force of the blast, which occurred late Saturday. Wells and Parker died that night and Patton the next morning.

The still was wrecked and the top of a small tank about 50 feet away was torn from its fastenings.

STRONG AMERICAN PROTEST TO GREECE IN CASE OF INSULT

ATHENS, Nov. 6. (P)—Denouncing the extradition treaty, in the case of Samuel Insull, Sr., a strong United States protest was handed by Lincoln MacVeagh, the American minister, to the director of the foreign ministry today.

The foreign minister himself was absent at Salonica.

The protest expressed astonishment at the appeal court's verdict in refusing to extradite Insull to be extradited to face charges in connection with the collapse of his utilities interests.

It protested that the court was trying the case by going into the substance of the accusations.

Premier Tsaldaris in an interview declared he had requested the ministry of justice to go through the file in the Insull case and determine whether anything important escaped to court.

He expressed his personal opinion that Greek justice stands at the highest and also expressed regret that the United States is so persistent and attaches so much importance to the court's verdict.

Referring to the Insull case, he said that the United States desire to denounce the treaty, he said that before it could become effective a certain time must elapse since it is impossible to denounce the treaty on a day's notice.

WHAT TREND RUSSO-AMERICAN CONVERSATIONS WILL TAKE IS BIG QUESTION AS HOUR NEARS

(By WILLIAM L. BEALE (Associated Press Staff Writer))

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—What trend will the recognition talks alone conversations, leaving other issues for later consideration, was thrust forward as a question today on the eve of Maxim Litvinoff's arrival in the United States.

The Soviet commissar of foreign affairs and his government have maintained a strict silence on their attitude since President Roosevelt's invitation to explore relations.

But past Soviet policies indicated Litvinoff would prefer to have this week's conversations deal almost entirely with the establishment of normal relations.

Such a course would leave to future discussions debts, claims, credits and trade relations. Informal quarters said this had been Russia's policy in establishing relations with other countries.

President Roosevelt has kept his own counsel on procedure. But in his note to Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet president, Mr. Roosevelt invited

GUARD MILK CARGO

Violence flared in Wisconsin when deputy sheriffs and state police used tear bombs to rout pickets and allow milk trucks to pass. This photo shows Milwaukee, Wis., state police driving armored motorcycles guarding a truckload of milk being sent into the city.

Pickets flared anew in Wisconsin. Forty thousand pounds of milk were dumped. Telephone wires were cut.

Pickets and anti-picketing forces massed at the Plattsmouth, Neb., bridge over the Missouri river ready to clash. Governor Herring of Iowa announced the state was ready "to step in" if county peace officers were unable to handle the situation.

The death of Frank Fletcher of Homer, Neb., brought to two the fatalities since the national farm embargo was declared more than two weeks ago. The other fatality occurred recently in Wisconsin.

Fletcher died before emergency treatment could be administered. The injured included three pickets: William Wingett, 58; Wingeggo, John Pallas, 42; Thurston, and Jerry Philip, 22. Walthill, Harry Jackson, Emerson, who police said was the driver of the car, was held after the crash together with a companion, Henry Mertens. Both were slightly injured.

Sheep and cattle wandered the streets of Lawton after a crowd of more than 200 pickets broke in to a Chicago and Northwestern live stock train. The pickets trailed the train, bound for a Sioux City market, from Plerson, finally halting it at the Lawton depot with a track blockade.

SENATOR BORAH SAYS ANTI-TRUST REPEAL MISTAKE

PARMA, Ida., Nov. 6. (P)—The administration's "buy now" campaign "is not progressing at all; it is receding," asserts Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. And to stop a "bribe" program of exploitation through high prices, he has gone on record for restoration and enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

"We are gathering the fruits, in a large measure, of the mistake in act in suspending the anti-trust laws last winter," the independent republican told a rural Western Idaho audience here Sunday night.

"It should not have been done," he said in referring to the unenforced anti-trust provisions.

"The people are paying for that mistake now. It is assumed that the public would be protected through these (NRA) codes, but that assumption was based upon wrong premises and was made without a sufficient desire to restrain monopolies."

REPEAL FOR PRO LAW EXPECTED TO BE MADE COMPLETE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (P)—Spirited last-minute arguments and predictions today created fervent interest in tomorrow's repeal and mayoral elections.

Two things put unusual significance into the one day elections—only three of the six states voting were expected to make certain of prohibition's official death about December 1, state-wide and mayoral contests were expected by some to be politically interested to indicate the direction of national political currents.

In many states and cities, consequently, there were predictions of heavy and over record voting.

Thirty-three of the necessary states have balloted in unbroken succession to end national prohibition. Tomorrow, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah, Kentucky, North and South Carolina give the voters a referendum on the issue.

Postmaster General Farley, an ardent supporter of the repeal, predicted again in New York last night that with the counting of the ballots the dry law would be ended.

At the same time, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Women's national committee for law enforcement, appealed to the voters to make a "last rally" to save the prohibition amendment.

"I know they can win if they'll go to the polls and vote against repeal," she said.

With Tammany Hall's fortunes in the balance, New York City's heated mayoral elections were being brought to a thunderous climax.

The three candidates, Mayor John P. O'Brien, Fiorello H. La Guardia and Joseph V. McKee, predicted victory by overwhelming pluralities.

Farley, national and state democratic chairman, had endorsed McKee.

Japanese Deny Planes Fly Over Soviet Territory

TOKYO, Nov. 6. (P)—The war office director, Moscow today, flatly denied Soviet reports that Japanese planes flew over Russian territory.

"A few Japanese army planes are assisting in our operations near Manchoukuo, the northern frontier," a spokesman for the war office said.

But, he added, they "have been ordered to keep within a line two kilometers inside the border."

"Furthermore, there are never more than two or three on any flight—never such a number as Soviet reports alleged."

The report at Moscow was that a squadron of Japanese military airplanes, including eight scouting craft and one bomber, flew over Soviet territory November 3.

PETER ARNO KNOCKED OUT IN FASHIONABLE EMBASSY CLUB OF HOLLYWOOD IN GO WITH ACTOR

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6. (P)—Peter Arno, New York cartoonist, was knocked out in an exchange of fistfists in the fashionable embassy club early today.

The argument allegedly was with Drexel Biddle Steel, actor, and member of a prominent Philadelphia family, but Steele said the knockout blow was struck by his business manager, Gordon Butler.

Sally O'Neill, film actress who accompanied Arno to the club and was reported to be the unwitting cause of the fight, was said by some witnesses to have ended the altercation by rapping Steele over the head with a chair. Miss O'Neill, however, denied she had any part in the fight.

Steel said Arno apparently had taken exception to his speaking to Miss O'Neill as he passed Arno's table. Later, Steele said, Arno came over to his table and made "a pass at me."

"My astonishment about the whole affair was increased because of the fact that I have known Mr. Arno for all of ten years," said the actor. "The only provocation that I gave him whatsoever was to call him by his own name of Cu. 3, for his name is Curtis Arno Peters, and I can't imagine that as the reason. I can't believe that he objected to my speaking to Miss O'Neill since that was only common courtesy."

Among those who witnessed the altercation were Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, both screen players; Clark Gable, film actor, and Mrs. Gable and Doris Duke, heiress to a tobacco fortune.

FORD LAYOFF PLAN BECAME EFFECTIVE MONDAY MORNING

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE THAT LAYOFF WAS CAUSED BY NRA CODE RULES

DETROIT, Nov. 6. (P)—Half the men employed at the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant here, were laid off today, in accordance with a recent company announcement that it planned to bring average working hours within the NRA auto code of 35 a week.

Company officials, while declaring that "half the men are being laid off," did not give the exact figures as to total employment in the plant. In their announcement of the layoff plan made last week they said that 9,000 men would be laid off, probably for seven days.

The last official figures given by the company for total employment at the plant some weeks ago, was 45,000.

It was stated that when the working hours of the men laid off today have been brought within the regulations of the auto code, the rest of the employees will be given a similar layoff.

The company has been operating on a 40-hour week basis, and several weeks ago announced that this work week would be adjusted to the prescribed 35-hour schedule.

There were no indications that the Ford company planned a reply to the statement in Washington last week of Hugh S. Johnson.

TEXAS TEACHERS GATHER IN AUSTIN ON THANKSGIVING

VARIED PROGRAM, CAPABLE
SPEAKERS AND LIVELY
TOPICS FOR SESSION

A varied program, capable speakers, lively topics for discussion, and a keen interest in current educational trends and present school situations are expected to stimulate a record attendance at the fifty-fifth annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers' Association to be held in Austin during the Thanksgiving holidays, Nov. 30-Dec. 2.

The part of the schools in the nation's recovery program will be the keynote of the discussion. Supt. H. W. Stillwell of Texas, president of the association, has announced that the three-day program of the convention will be built around the theme, "The Responsibility of the Teacher in the Recovery of the Nation."

Interesting viewpoints of this theme will be presented by some of the outstanding educational leaders of the nation, who will attend the meeting as guests of the Texas teachers. Among them are Dean Gordon J. Laing of the University of Chicago; Jessie Gray, Philadelphia, president of the National Educational Association; Dr. Ambrose L. Suhrie of New York University, New York City; Dr. Herbert B. Bruner of Columbia University, New York City; Dr. J. B. Johnson, University of Minnesota; Mrs. Chase Goring Woodhouse, Greensboro, North Carolina; Frederic C. Howe, Consumer's Council of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C., and Dr. Earl Bedell, Detroit.

Some State Speakers.

Some of the men and women prominent in the educational life of the state who will speak at the convention are: A. W. Birdwell, State Teachers' College, Odessa; G. O. Clough, Southern Methodist University, Dallas; State Superintendent L. A. Woods, Austin; Nat. Washner, president state board of education, Austin; President H. Y. Benedict, University of Texas; Dean T. D. Brooks, A. and M. College; Dean T. H. Shelby, University of Texas; Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, Austin; Miss Nellie Griffiths, State Teachers' College, Denton; Miss L. Williams, Dallas; Supt. T. W. Smith, Whitebridge; Supt. N. S. Holland, Breckenridge.

President of the State Teachers' Association will be elected at the meeting. Nominations for the office are Mrs. Roy C. Owens of Tyler and J. O. Loftin of San Antonio.

LIGHT RAIN FELL OVER COUNTY LATE FRIDAY EVENING

A light rain fell in all sections of Navarro county Friday night and was accompanied by a slight drop in temperature. The rain was not heavy enough to enable the farmers to break their land for fall oat planting, nor hardly enough to furnish moisture to bring up oats that have been "dry" planted.

The rainfall in Corsicana was about an inch and reports indicate it was about the same in other sections of the county.

The thermometer registered 55 as the low point reached Friday night which is the lowest of the season.

Additional Cotton

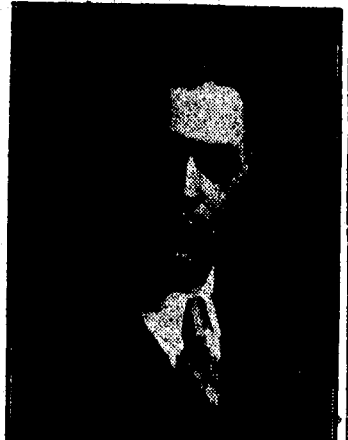

Checks Received By

Morris on Saturday

Seventeen additional cotton checks were received Saturday, by County Agent C. C. Morris in the campaign, amounting to $315. Total of 4503 checks have been received amounting to $870,822.33.

Present indications are that the original estimate of $875,000 for Navarro county will be considerably exceeded. More than 150 checks are yet to be received.

The Navarro county grand jury recessed Friday afternoon until Tuesday, Nov. 21, and returned 32 indictments to District Judge Hawkins Scarborough as follows:

Burglary, 8; theft, 6; auto theft, 2; perjury and false swearing, 1; conspiracy to rob, 4; violation of the prohibition laws, 8; assault with intent to murder, 1; forgery, 1.

The following were reported arrested on the indictments early Saturday morning:

William Allen Cavitt, burglary and theft.

Ernest Jeffers, burglary, theft and auto theft.

Riddle Sessions, negro, perjury and false swearing, in connection with the testimony before the grand jury, Oct. 6, relative to giving T. C. Thomas, Sam Norton, Booker White and Henry Johnson a pistol prior to the robbery of the Matthews filling station, Aug. 14.

Henry Johnson, T. C. Thomas and Sam Norton, negroes, conspired to rob.

James Garfield Matthews, negro, burglary, in connection with the burglarizing of the B. and J. Sales store and the Tekell Furniture store, Oct. 24.

ACCOUNTS FORMER RELIEF BODY FOUND TO BE CORRECT

Several months after they had relinquished control of the relief organization, the Corsicana Unemployed Relief Committee headed by W. P. McCammon, has been notified by the Texas Relief Commission that their accounts had been found correct.

The following letter received recently is self-explanatory:

Mr. Chairman, McCammon, Former

Navarro County Relief Committee,

Corsicana, Texas.

Dear Mr. McCammon:

I take great pleasure in advising you that this office has received copies of the report of Messrs. McCammon, Morris and Pickens, Certified Public Accountants, accounting for all the Federal Emergency Relief funds placed at the disposal of the Navarro County Relief Committee of which you were chairman. These reports substantiate completely your proper administration of relief during the period in which you were chairman of that committee.

I take a great pleasure indeed, in expressing to you the thorough appreciation of this commission of the very excellent and valuable services rendered to the destitute unemployed in your county, and to assure you that it has been a matter of pleasure to this office to have been associated with you in this work.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) GEORGE R. DONNELL,

Auditor.

RETURN TO GOLD STANDARD URGED BY NEW YORK CHAMBER

MANAGED OR COMMODITY
DOLLAR OPPOSED IN RESO-LUTION ADOPTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The New York State Chamber of Commerce went on record today in strong opposition to a managed currency and demanded that the United States return to a gold standard with the utmost promptness.

The action was taken at a special meeting attended by men eminent in the financial and business affairs of the state and nation.

Leonor F. Loree, head of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, declared that the abandonment of the gold standard by the United States was as great a violation of the neutrality of 1914 as Belgium's neutrality in 1914.

The sentiment of the Chamber of Commerce was one of the first organized attacks on the administration's new monetary policy, particularly the recent gold purchasing policy.

At the meeting of Chamber representatives, financial interests of Wall Street and much of the east were represented. Opinion as evidenced from addresses made before the gathering was definitely in opposition to any attempt in currency experimentation and the managed commodity dollar.

The resolution stated that the chamber, "taking cognizance of recent financial developments here, by affirms its conviction that a gold standard is the most satisfactory monetary system from the standpoint of the American people as a whole, and expresses its belief that as a delay in the declaration of a definite policy will make the task more difficult, measures should be taken with the utmost promptness toward the restoration of a permanent gold standard in the United States."

Attempt to Amend.

An attempt was made to amend this section of the resolution for deletion of the historic gold standard but in regard to weight and fitness.

Although the question was resolved by proponents of the amendment into one approving or disapproving return to the old gold dollar it was defeated on the ground that such a move would be unwise at the present time and under existing financial conditions.

"Most of us," said Bayard F. Pope, member of the resolutions committee, "hope a return to the historic gold dollar will occur unaided, but to commit ourselves to that purpose immediately would be unwise."

Necessary to Recovery.

The resolution stated that it was of importance to business recovery that the administration clearly and unequivocally announce that it will not adopt an automatic commodity dollar or a managed commodity dollar or similar currency experiments, but will adopt a policy directed toward the return to the gold standard.

The resolution further recorded the belief that "a rise in commodity prices should be accomplished by a rise in national income."

To accomplish such an end it was declared that public confidence should be necessary, but that it should be based on the undisturbed future uncertainty and alterations of the monetary unit.

Loree was applauded when he rose with a $20 note in his hand and said:

"Trying to Cheat Creditor."

"It is a curious phenomenon that when prices are rising no one feels any sympathy for the creditor. It's only when the shoe is on the other foot that we hear any great to-do."

"When you get to the bottom of all this, it almost amounts to an effort to cheat the creditor out of what is due him."

"That," he said, waving the $20 bill, "is a mere scrap of paper. There has been violated the government's pledge to pay in time just as surely as Germany violated its treaty with Belgium."

A resolution urging support of restoring the purchasing power of the nation was voted down. It was introduced by A. W. Benkert, investment banker and secretary of the treasury, Woodin.

Copies of the resolution urging maintenance of the gold standard will be sent at once to President Roosevelt and secretary of the treasury, Woodin.

PRINTING PRESS MONEY

Inflationists ask why should a government borrow when it might for a trifling outlay manufacture paper money and tender it in payment of services rendered the government? They argue that the latter is a cheap and easy way to obtain something for nothing; to borrow for emergency purposes without paying interest on the loan.

On its face the argument seems simple and sound. Persons little informed on monetary matters might jump to the conclusion that loans and fiat money affect the national credit and the value of the dollar equally, so all the advantage is on the side of the fiat money.

Usually overlooked is the fact that fiat money is redeemable just as government bonds are, only the former has no fixed maturity date. Moreover, it has been the experience of the government during this emergency that loans have not impaired the government's credit nor resulted in inflation, whereas the issuance of fiat money would do both.

Perhaps the most convincing argument against fiat money, as a substitute for large emergency loans, is the effect of the former upon mass psychology. Where loans induce economy and discourage further borrowing, fiat money creates a demand for more greenbacks and more spending.

WORTHY OF THEIR HIRE

Doctors throughout the country are being forced by the shortage of money to their practices on a cash-and-carry basis. No more making it on the cuff if the patient is in a position to pay on delivery of the pills. A sick person will go unattended for lack of funds, and chiselers who make a habit of forgetting doctor bills must pay or suffer their credit.

Something had to be done by the medical profession. Traditionally poor collectors, the depression found large sums on doctors' books and added still more. Before the depression had run a year of its course many physicians were penniless and all had suffered great losses in income. They were busier than ever but their incomes were reminiscent of their first year's practice.

In most cases the doctors themselves are at fault. They have been unbusinesslike, too lenient with creditors and far from prompt in making their statements. Buyers of pills, prescriptions and diagnoses have been spoiled. When the doctor becomes a better bill collector his patient will improve their credit rating.

The medical profession cannot claim priority rights to the first wages of the re-employed, for the grocer, butcher, farmer and clothier have also administered to the physical needs of the masses. But the unpaid doctor is entitled to his share of the first pay check.

HEART COURAGEOUS

There's a little old lady who lives down the way
Who has never a word of her sorrows to say.
She has buried her husband, her children and friends,
Still bravely her gay little garden she tends,
And bravely she smiles as if never a care
Or the anguish of sorrows had silvered her hair.

One morning as dawned I wandered along
Because some little plan of my own had gone wrong,
She noticed my frown as I came to her gate
And asked me my burden of trouble to state.
"Oh, I know how you feel," she replied with a smile,
"But don't bear a grudge, for it isn't worth while!"

I thought of her sorrows and stood there ashamed
To think that my own petty trouble I'd named.
She passed me a rosebud to pin on my coat
And I couldn't say thanks for the lump in my throat.
She patted my arm and she said to me there:
"Remember we all have some burdens to bear."

Dear, brave little lady, thought, I, as I left,
Of all who have loved you so swiftly bereft,
Yet smiling and cheerful and hiding your woes
In a manner so gentle that no one may know,
Should I be the last of my circle to stay,
God grant me such faith as I've seen you display.

FEDERAL TAX PLANS

How will the taxpayer fare at the coming session of congress?

Timeliness is given the question by news dispatches from Washington stating that a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee has begun a study of the entire federal tax structure with a view to its complete revision.

With government funds being poured out lavishly in all directions, it will be difficult for taxpayers to see in proposed revision anything, but upward revision. The situation as outlined in Washington, however, is not without a ray of hope.

The subcommittee's study, we are told, "includes possibilities of removing several of the so-called nuisance taxes imposed in the billion-dollar revenue bill enacted in 1932." There is some encouragement in the mere possibility that some of these levies may be removed, but it would not be safe to predict the realization of this possibility.

Liquor as a prospective source of important revenue makes it likely that congress may not find it necessary to bear down quite so heavily in sources now financing governmental operations. Estimates picture a yield of half a billion dollars yearly from liquor taxes. But billions are mentioned as casually now in connection with the government's operations as were millions a few years ago.

Plugging up of loopholes in the income tax law, with the idea of restoring "it to its former position of providing more than half the government's revenue" is another encouraging suggestion.

Notwithstanding a few bright spots in the tax picture, it would not be wise for taxpayers to build up high hopes of receiving relief or even of not having their present burdens increased. Disappointment might be their reward.

Congress will be in a spending mood. Almost every imaginable cause will be advanced as deserving of governmental assistance. These proposals will come on top of the many and costly undertakings now being financed with federal funds. Congressmen will be looking to their political future and to the votes they will hope to be able to win by a liberal dishing out of the public's money.

The administration may be able to exercise a curbing influence upon this inclination and to hold expenditures within more or less reasonable bounds. But, even at best, the taxpayer has little grounds on which to erect expectations of material relief.

Germany may learn, after all, that world good will and small armaments are much more valuable in the long run than ill will and the most powerful armaments it can construct.

Those not on the level are undermining society.

The Old "Forty Niner" Is at It Again!

DEATH RATE DROPS

The United States seems to be emerging from the depression a healthier nation than it was at the outset of the slump.

This is indicated by the latest census bureau report which shows that the 1932 death rate was the lowest on record. It was 10.09 per 1,000 population, which compared with 11.08 for 1931 and 11.3 for 1930. For 1929, the year the depression started, the death rate was 11.9.

These figures are especially interesting in view of the statements made by some health authorities early in the depression that the latter would seriously affect the general health of the population. More recent statements by federal officials have pictured a million or more children as being undernourished.

A possible explanation of the apparent conflict between the death rate figures and the predictions of health authorities is seen in the contention that undernourishment also affected thousands even in boom years, that the depression has forced millions of persons into simpler and more wholesome living and that relief work has been so extended and well organized that large numbers of families have been better cared for than when left to their own choice and preparation of food and general living conditions.

Whatever may be the real explanation—and health authorities will differ in their opinions—the fact that the death rate has shown an important decline is one of the most cheering things that have come out of the depression. It reflects credit upon those who have administered relief work. If it had not been for the latter there can be no doubt that a great increase in disease and deaths would have been recorded.

The condition may have an important influence upon future public health programs.

Now that our desperate criminals—or those who are caught—are to be confined in an island prison, gangland stands to develop some swimming champions.

GETTING UP STEAM.

President Roosevelt's plan for unemployment relief by public works has not been succeeding as well or as rapidly as was hoped, and nobody is willing to accept the responsibility.

Secretary Ickes acquiesces his department, which he says has made the money available and approved the plans as they have been submitted by the states. His complaint is that the states, which are to do the work, have been dilatory. In one or more instances he has insinuated political sabotage.

Spokesmen for the several states placed the responsibility back on the federal government until Secretary Ickes spoiled that alibi by authorizing the states to do the work first and get his approval afterward.

One cause of delay has been the disinclination of contractors to proceed under the stipulation that the prevailing wages shall be maintained in all government enterprises. Perhaps some have based their bids on estimated wages below the rate required by the government.

Although in the past a year has usually been consumed by the preliminaries to a public works program, the present administration is determined to get its program started in every state before winter officially sets in. The harsh words and reprimands of the last few weeks seem to have pulled the stick from the wheels, and started this gigantic vehicle of re-employment slowly moving forward.

The recommendation in the Rockefeller report that good liquor should be available after prohibition is repealed at $1 a quart will find much popular favor.

Soaking the rich will make times good if a life guard can do better rescue work with weights tied on his feet.

There is less buying because people buy things to keep instead of doubling the price and looking for a sucker.

Another money-making idea is teaching public enemies how to swim from Alcatraz to the mainland.

CORN MEETS CORN IN FAIRFIELD AND SHAKEUP IS RESULT

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 4.—(Sp.)—Tuesday night a coupe, allegedly "litter" with 68 gallons of corn "litter" was found on the road, loaded with ear corn, parked on the square.

Mr. Ezell, driver of the truck, from Bynum, was badly shaken up. The driver of the liquor car escaped injury, but failed to escape the "law," who were parked nearby, and he landed safely in jail.

STATE TREASURER SAYS MONEY RAISED BY EMPLOYEES GIFT

TELLS OF OTHER CASH GIFTS AND FAVORS RECEIVED FROM JOBBOLDERS

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—(P)—Charley Lockhart, state treasurer, testified before a legislative committee today concerning contributions of money made to him by employees of his department during the spring of 1932.

Lockhart said that in all approximately $500 was turned over to him.

Lockhart testified he believed the money was presented to him by employees of the department as a donation and that he accepted it as such. He said the collection of the fund was made without his knowledge or consent.

When the fund was given him, Lockhart said it was not stated that it would be used for campaign expenses. He specifically denied any knowledge that pressure had been brought on employees to contribute to the fund. He said he had been known of any coercion he would have discharged the offenders immediately.

He said the money was turned over to him for whatever purpose he desired. Lockhart said there was some suggestion that he purchase an automobile, while another was that he take a trip.

Lockhart said he never saw the list circulated among the employees and that he did not know who contributed or the amounts they gave. He testified he refunded one employee her money when she left the department and after she asked for a return of the amount she had contributed.

"I don't know how much she paid in," Lockhart said. "I just took her word for it." He added that anybody else who had contributed with the idea of keeping a job could have the money back.

Lockhart testified that last Christmas he was presented with $100 in cash by his employees.

He said he had received other gifts, such as traveling bag and traveling kit and that employees often bought him cigars, fruit and on occasions brought him lunch to the office.

Thought They Loved Him. "It was just like a bunch of school children bringing apples to the teacher, wasn't it?" Representative Gordon Burns of Huntsville, one of the investigators asked.

"That was it," Lockhart replied. "I thought they loved me and were making the donation voluntarily and that it was offered out of the kindness of their hearts."

Art Mondt, Beaumont wrestler and wrestling promoter, told the committee of his efforts to obtain a wrestling promoters permit from Jack Flynn, boxing and wrestling commissioner.

He testified that he talked with Flynn in Houston and that Flynn referred him to C. W. Howth of Beaumont, a member of the state Democratic executive committee.

Mondt quoted Flynn as saying that "to the victor belongs the spoils, that it was a political proposition and that I would have to see Howth to get the license."

He testified that when he met Howth, Howth said virtually the same thing.

"That seemed to be their theme song," Mondt testified.

He said Howth told him that Luther Wilson had been approved for a permit for Beaumont and suggested that Mondt and Wilson agree on a proposition.

Mondt said that Howth told Mondt that "it was political proposition" and that "we have spent something over $200,000 to elect Mrs. Ferguson and have to get it back some way."

At a meeting with Flynn in Austin, Mondt testified Flynn told him to see Former Governor J. E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Ferguson, and that if Ferguson approved Mondt's application the permit would be issued immediately.

Some Straight Talk. Mondt said he got mad and told Flynn that Jesse James was a credit to him, and that "the more I thought about it the better I liked Al Capone."

Mondt said that his wife and his attorney called on Ferguson but that Ferguson referred him back to Howth.

Mondt testified that he now is promoting wrestling in Beaumont. He said he obtained the permit after he had agreed to pay Wilson $100 and one per cent of the gross gate receipts, and state and federal taxes. The five per cent ranges from $5 to $35 a week, Mondt said. He testified that Wilson at first asked for $300 and ten per cent.

Mondt said it "looked like Flynn did not have the power to issue the permit."

General Practice. Lockhart said the practice of state employees presenting department heads with gifts was followed in all branches and that it was the rule rather than the exception.

He testified that the woman who got her money back was let out because the appropriation for her position had expired and also because her husband was working for the state. She did not say she had been required to make the donation and said she wanted it back "to make a payment of a lot," Lockhart said.

He questioned testimony given by another former employee that he donated $100, half of it in payments starting in March, and the other half after he had been promoted.

Representative R. J. Long of Wichita Falls, a committee member, challenged the committee to investigate anything except job selling. He said the resolution, if it conferred powers as broad as those claimed by the committee, was "too broad" and gave the committee more power than the legislature itself had.

Burns said the committee had ample power to investigate anything connected with the state government and that the resolution creating the committee:

Overall's Symbol

Of Discontent at Prices on Farms

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3.—(P)—In the middlewest, where wheat embargoes and farm strikes evince the farmer's strong conviction that prices of what he has to sell have lagged behind prices of what he must buy, the overall has become the symbol of Agrarian discontent.

The price of a pair of overalls, standard everyday apparel of the man who works in the fields, has been singled out for repeated protest at farm gatherings. It has come to typify, in the agricultural mind, the higher retail prices which many farm leaders contend press most severely upon rural residents.

Inquiry at Kansas City retail establishments disclosed that overalls costing a farmer 59 to 69 cents a pair, early this year now sell for 89 to 98 cents. Overalls of better material and workmanship, which formerly sold for 98 cents, now bring $1.39.

Meantime, the wholesale price of the latter grade, a buyer for a large store said, had increased from $5.50 to $16.50 a dozen. This meant that overalls costing the store $1.37 1-2 were being sold on a margin of 11-12 cents a pair.

Postmaster General Makes Sharp Thrust So-Called Leaders

DEFENDS RECOVERY PROGRAM IN NORTH CAROLINA SPEECH THURSDAY

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 3.—(P)—In the Carolina to deliver last round punches for prohibition repeal, Postmaster General James A. Farley left that issue long enough here today to lash, on behalf of the administration, "petty criticism from those so-called leaders who have offered no program worthy of the name."

Addressing a repeal rally before departing to Columbia for a similar mission tonight, the democratic national chairman said "we have not expected that every one would agree, without exception, to all aspects of the great program we were seeking to carry forward."

"We have not believed that perfection could be obtained overnight, because we were aware of the vast complexities of the problem with which we had to deal."

"We did have the right, and I assert here with all the seriousness and sincerity I can command, that we have the right today, to expect something more than petty criticism from those so-called leaders who have offered no program worthy of the name, those who appeared indifferent to the tragedy of men, women and children visible on every side of them. They had their policies of timidity and indecision and of timidities were doing more than anything else to encourage radicalism and soap-box oratory in this country."

MUSSOLINI TAKES OVER NAVY AND AIR MINISTRIES MONDAY

AIR MARSHAL BALBO DE- JECTED AFTER HANDING IN HIS RESIGNATION

ROME, Nov. 6.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel made Premier Mussolini minister of both the Navy and the Air today after accepting the resignations of Air Marshal Italo Balbo and Admiral Giuseppe Siranni.

At the same time, the king named General Valle under-secretary of the Air and Admiral Caviglioli under-secretary of the Navy.

Balbo was named governor of Libya, taking the place of Marshal Badoglio.

Premier Mussolini sent both Balbo and Admiral Siranni a cordial autographed letter thanking them for their long and loyal co-operation.

The king's decree accepted the resignation of Undersecretary Ruffo of the Navy and Undersecretary Riccardi of the Air.

The wording of the decree indicated that the military ministries of the Navy and the Air will not be combined, as at first believed.

It was thought, however, that this was probable at some later period when Mussolini becomes minister of national defense.

Air officers described Balbo as dejected and said he would take a vacation of several months before assuming his new post as governor of Libya.

Balbo's air connection, these officers pointed out, would make him valuable as the governor of a colony where aircraft plays a large part in the African desert interior in keeping the tribesmen under control.

The assumption of the military ministries by Mussolini has been rumored for a year and a half. This is not the first time it has held all three posts.

ROBBERY

county officers, led by Sheriff Jess Sweeten, followed the car into Corsicana, where all three were taken to the city jail.

Chief Knight said a car occupied by three men and a woman stopped at a filling station in East Corsicana about 4 o'clock Sunday morning and said they were en route to Waco.

The nightwatchman was missed between 3 and 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Local city officers reported that the description of the three men and woman were tall, with that of those thought to have been implicated in the Trinidad job.

A young man sitting in a car parked along Highway 31 just west of the Trinity river bridge in Navarro county, told the pursuing officers that a car containing four people sped by him without lights at a high rate of speed going toward Corsicana a short time after the robbery occurred.

A company official who announced the layoff plan last week professed his remarks with the statement that the layoffs were being given because of a "new prohibition against work in this country," and said it "seems possible to enforce that kind of prohibition."

Trial Continued.

SIoux CITY, Ia., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The trial of Oscar M. Hartzell, accused of using the mails to defraud, was continued this morning until Tuesday morning. Sick-ness of Oscar Goltz, one of Hartzell's attorneys, was the reason for postponement.

REPEAL

Kee. Some democratic chieftains conceded that the outcome would affect President Roosevelt's control of the state.

Wets and drys made final exhortations in the states voting on repeal. Reports indicated the result in Utah, Ohio and North Carolina would be close; anti-repealists had been especially active there.

Should three of the states favor repeal, it could not be achieved before December 5 since conventions, to which the voters will elect delegates tomorrow, must do the actual ratifying. The result in Kentucky will not be known until Wednesday because of a state law.

Important Contests.

Other important mayoral contests include:

Cleveland—Mayor Ray T. Miller, democrat, against Harry Davis, republican.

Boston—Six candidates, four democratic and two republican, in the field.

Albany, N. Y.—Major John B. Thacher, 2nd, democrat supported by the powerful O'Connell organization, against Reynolds K. Townsend, independent democrat.

Louisville, Ky.—Professor Neville Louisville, dean of the University of Kentucky Law School, democrat, against Dan M. Carroll, republican.

In Virginia Senator Byrd, democrat, seeks to succeed himself, with Henry A. Wise, republican, as his opponent.

Virginia elects a governor and a state assembly.

National political leaders also will pay close attention to the results in New York and New Jersey state legislative elections.

Facts and Figures

On Repeal Status

(By The Associated Press.)

Thirty states have voted to repeal the eighteenth amendment and ratified their action by conventions.

Three states have voted favorably and have yet to ratify in conventions.

Six states vote on the proposition tomorrow and must ratify their action in state conventions afterward.

The last of these six conventions acts December 6.

Thirty-six states acting favorably are required to adopt the amendment.

The 36th state's convention act can not come before December 5, when conventions are to be held in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Utah.

No states are not expected to act this year.

Thirty-three states thus far have cast 15,064,847 votes on the question.

Votes for repeal total 11,329,180.

Votes against repeal total 3,735,657.

Majority for repeal, 7,593,433.

Population represented in the vote, 85,709,000.

Presidential vote last year in the 33 states, 28,904,564.

Rooster Used As Substitute For Groom in China

CANTON, China, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A wedding in which a pretty Cantonese girl married a rooster was solemnized today.

Although her fiancé, Shih Kwang Tung, was living in Singapore, the girl's parents decided her marriage must be performed while they were still alive.

Accordingly, a graceful appearing bird from a neighboring poultry farm was selected to act as the bridegroom.

All of the elaborate ritual accompanying an old-fashioned Chinese marriage was observed while the beautiful bride, 18 years old, received the congratulations of friends, and the rooster must remain her "husband."

FIGHT

"A little incident occurred to night, on my return to America from the Orient, at the Embassy club here in Los Angeles, between me and Peter Arno which with your good judgment, you will hush up," Steele's telegram said. "It has become public information I was sitting with Claire Delmar, international beauty and the greatest actress in Switzerland, when he approached my table, a small supper party of forty that I was giving in her honor, and accused me of knowing him when his name was Curtis Peters, interior decorator for Gilda (Gray) and an unknown identity in America."

I arose and presented him to Miss Delmar, which she acknowledged. That was not enough for him and I explained at that moment there was just one thing that he lacked—besides being born a gentleman.

"Mister Bordon Butler, when Mr. Arno made a pass at me, stepped in to defend not only Miss Delmar but me, and sent Mister Arno flying across the dance floor, much to Miss Delmar's amusement and to Mister Arno's surprise."

Mister Arno was down on the count of nine because Mister Butler, All American end at Princeton laid him low. The only comment I have to make is that Mister Arno's great mistake is he unfortunately was born a man but forgot to be born a gentleman."

MORE SENTENCES HAVE NO TERRORS FOR TWO CONVICTS

HOUSTON, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The possibility of getting prison sentences for some more crimes doesn't greatly concern Jack Stewart, 24, and Ralph King, 20, jail-breaking convicts recaptured after exchanging shots with officers here.

"We have long stretches ahead of us," King said, "and I don't see why they want to try us for any more crimes."

"Yeah," added Stewart from his cell bunk, "we have done nearly everything but bribe a United States senator, and I hope to do that before I'm 25."

Their attitude toward prison was based on the fact that Stewart already is under sentences totaling 115 years and King has 80 years to go.

Stewart and Detective Ira Williams were wounded slightly in the shooting Saturday night, when officers located them at a drive-in sandwich stand.

The prisoners admitted they had escaped from the Greenville, Texas, jail on Oct. 24, after being taken to that city from the state penitentiary on bench warrants.

Last night Stewart and King were identified as the robbers who took $106 in cash from a Conroe root beer stand Thursday night. Officers planned to file charges at Conroe in this case, probably today.

Officers also are trying to find out if Stewart and King had anything to do with a bank robbery at Palestine recently.

FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY MORNING FOR W. F. BOND

Funeral services for W. F. Bond, aged 62 years, a resident of Corsicana for the past 30 years, who died at the Torbett sanitarium in Marlin Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock following an operation, were held from the family residence, 1707 West Second avenue, Monday morning at 10 o'clock with burial in Oakwood cemetery.

The rites were conducted by Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church. Mr. Bond was taken to the Marlin hospital Thursday.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, Trent Bond, Robert Bond and Billy Bond, all of Corsicana; two brothers, Marion Bond and J. A. Bond, both of Kerens; and a sister, Mrs. Lula Dodds, New Albany, Miss.

The funeral was directed by the Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home.

FASHIONABLE HANDS

Fashionable hands are often, but not necessarily, useless looking. They seem, that is, to be more accustomed to the dainty jobs of life than to the difficult ones. That doesn't mean, however, that the fashionable hand need be really useless, for it will be all the more beautiful if it has strength and capability. But, to be fashionable, it must not show signs of hard work, the nails must be beautifully shaped, and these days they must be brilliantly tinted.

No doubt you want fashionable looking hands. Well, in order to achieve them, you must protect them so carefully while working that they will never show any signs of the work you've done. You must know as much as do about modern methods of protecting the hands. Put all your knowledge into practice, and be sure you do most of your hard housework with gloves on. If your hands get into a very bad state, the following heroic but effective treatment.

Soak the hands for ten minutes in a basin of very warm water. Into this put a tablespoonful of ammonia and a large tablespoonful of tincture of green soap. After they have soaked for practically ten minutes, go all over them with a small scrubbing brush and a little more of the soap solution, rinse and dry them. If there are any remaining stains, remove these by rubbing a slice of lemon over the hands, and work under the nail with a very bright orange-wood stick soaked with bleaching cuticle solvent.

Rinse again with warm water and then rub the hands with almond oil. Give them a thorough rubbing, if possible near the heat, so the hands will absorb a great deal of the oil.

It would be a very good thing if you could now put on a pair of rubber gloves. Into each glove you should pour a tablespoonful of the oil. Keep the gloves on half an hour.

H. J. K.—You may lessen the amount of wax in the cream formula and get a cream of any consistency that you wish. For instance, in the usual formula calling for an ounce of beeswax and an ounce of spermaceti you may bring the amount down to a half of an ounce of wax and omit the spermaceti. Some wax is needed to form the cream, and if you like

Alleged Sale of State Home Jobs Cause Indictment

DALLAS, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Dallas county grand jury today returned three indictments for swindling in connection with the charges of state job selling and three indictments in connection with alleged tobacco thefts.

William McGlothlin was indicted on three counts of swindling in the job selling investigation and Mair Schepps and Jack Rush were indicted for receiving and concealing tobacco alleged to have been stolen from A. W. Cullum.

O. J. Hukill, former Tarrant county deputy sheriff, was indicted for the firearms robbery of a quantity of tobacco stored on the farm of Mrs. W. F. McKinney near Dallas last May. Charles Woolsey is under indictment in connection with the same case.

The true bill against McGlothlin set forth that he accepted $100 from Mrs. Rachel Carroll of Dallas last July and promised her a position as matron at the State Orphan Home at Corsicana, that he accepted $250 from C. J. Williamson of Dallas in August with a promise of the job as assistant superintendent at the orphan's home and that he accepted $150 from Hubert Ledbetter of Dallas with the promise of the position as steward.

JOHNSON REACHES CHICAGO MONDAY ON TOUR MIDDLE WEST

HOPES TO MEET OBJECTIONS OF OPPONENTS; WILLING ANSWER QUESTIONS

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(P)—General Hugh A. Johnson today told a meeting of manufacturers and big business men that the objections so far against the NRA were mostly "imitation dead cats and hobgoblins."

Johnson, speaking through the agricultural midwest, the National recovery administrator pleaded for full support of the NRA. He addressed a group of Chicagoans, an association of Commerce and the Illinois Manufacturer's association.

Johnson said that when he took over the job he expected "the air would be full of dead cats." He said the NRA had "stepped on a few toes, and some of the biggest, kickingest toes in the country."

Atwell Charges Federal Jury On NRA Violations

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6.—(P)—The new federal grand jury, impaneled today by Judge William H. Davis, was charged with the duty of investigating violations of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

"Without committing this court to the constitution," charged Judge Atwell, who sat on the bench in the absence of Judge James C. Wilson, "I want to remind you that rules and regulations have been promulgated by the executive department in connection with this act, and a penalty for violation has been fixed at $500 fine and one year in jail."

"Every effort has been made to enlist citizens in patriotic observance of provisions of this act, but it is not amiss to remind you that this act is not unlike other commands of our government and for us to comply will be punishable."

DERAILMENT M. P. PASSENGER TRAIN INJURED SEVEN

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., Nov. 6.—(P)—Missouri-Pacific Railroad officials today were trying to determine the cause of the derailment of a passenger train Nov. 5, on a straight piece of track six miles south of New Braunfels Saturday night. Six passengers were injured.

It was received possible that a split rail was responsible for the three baggage cars, two passenger cars and three pullmans leaving the rails. The train was northbound between San Antonio and Austin.

Trains today were maintaining normal schedules over the line, wrecking crews having repaired the track and cleared away the derailed cars. Damage to the cars was not extensive.

Among the injured were Miss Gladys Bryant of Austin, who received a slight hip injury, and J. V. Franklin, a clerk from San Antonio, cut about the head and shoulders. Miss Mayme Bryant, a sister of Miss Gladys Bryant, suffered from shock. The other injured were less seriously hurt. They received first aid and proceeded to their destinations.

COUNTY AGENTS IN ATTENDANCE UPON EXTENSION COURSE

Both of the Navarro county demonstration agents, C. C. Morris and Miss Ruth McNabb, are in College Station this week attending a special course for the agents given by the extension service of Texas A. and M. College. They will return to their districts this afternoon.

In the absence of Mr. Morris, Miss Aline Ledford is handling the distribution of cotton acreage reduction checks as they arrive. The Navarro County Women's Home Demonstration Council held its regular monthly meeting Saturday afternoon with a large attendance. Plans for the coming month were made and others were completed. Achievement day will be celebrated about the middle of November.

GOLD

Authorities here are surrounding their operations with greatest secrecy lest speculators profit. Officials today fixed the price of the metal at $32.80 a gram, or $32.80 an ounce, 17 cents higher than on Saturday and 38 cents greater than the London quotation after turning it into dollars at an exchange rate of $49.2 1/2 to the dollar. The gold market in London today was closed at $49.30 3/4, and on-half penny.

Dollar Hits Low Level

LONDON, Nov. 6.—(P)—The American dollar skidded to new low levels today under pressure of business confidence by nervousness over its future, which at one time forced the quotation to an extreme rate of $49.2 1/2 to the pound.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HAS RIGHT REGULATE OIL IN COMMERCE

FEDERAL JUDGE BRYANT HOLDS SUCH IS CASE IF PRO-RATION ORDER VALID

TYLER, Nov. 6.—(P)—Randolph Bryant, federal judge here today, assuming there exists a valid order of the railroad commission limiting production in the East Texas field, the federal government has the right to regulate the flow of oil in interstate commerce produced in violation of such valid laws.

The opinion was expressed while he was sitting on the case of the Panama Refining company vs. A. D. Ryan and others. Argument was scheduled for this afternoon, with each side agreeing to take the case to the Supreme court.

Judge Bryant, from the bench, suggested that in case of the Murray company, vs. the Railroad Commission, hearing of which before a statutory court has been petitioned, counsel get together late today and agree on procedure in reference to whether a temporary injunction would be prayed for. Such action would simplify the legal procedure.

The judge was inclined to hold that the principle involved in the Murray case was either that the department of the interior has the right to dictate the amount of oil a state is permitted to produce, or that the Panama case decision.

Charles Fahy, assistant solicitor in the interior department, apparently convinced him that it was not necessary to involve the case in the interior department, since the case didn't involve an attack on the constitution. He said that only the right of the federal government under the act set up last June.

The government offered more than 100 affidavits in the Panama Refining case, and the plaintiffs about a dozen. The government sought to show that the requirements of refinery reports was not burdensome while the plaintiffs sought to show that the reports and violation of the constitution.

that the defendant could not get a fair trial in Navarro county due to the prominence of the parties involved and other factors. He said the Corsicana Sun had a "fair trial" in Navarro county.

Under cross-examination by District Attorney Miller, Dr. Currie said it was not impossible to procure 12 men in Navarro county who did not know about the case.

Caldwell's case appealed to the court of criminal appeals following his conviction. The case was reversed and remanded later in 1932 and a motion for a rehearing by the state was denied early this year. The case was continued twice this year, once due to the illness of the defendant and another time due to the illness of one of his attorneys.

The state being represented by Miller, C. L. Kiser, assistant criminal district attorney; J. S. Callicott, special prosecutor, Corsicana, and Henry Tiley, assistant district attorney of Dallas county and special prosecutor in the case of Mr. Tiley's conviction.

The defense is being handled by Justice & Sigler of Athens. Local attorneys connected with the case on the former trial were not present.

Court was recessed until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. No indication was made by officials, but it is expected a ruling on the change of venue proposal will be made early in the afternoon.

Other incidents in the transaction included Jimmie Nash, who is now serving a seven-year sentence in the penitentiary following his plea of guilty; Doyle Nash, against whom indictments were returned in 1932, who has never been apprehended; Chas. R. Hassell, who turned state's evidence.

Doyle Nash was in the courtroom Monday morning.

Money Brought Before Probers Not to Buy Job

AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—(P)—The irony of it!

While a legislative committee investigating that promises of employment in state departments and institutions had been made in exchange for cash was listening to a witness, he walked Albert Moursund, country banker of Johnson City (up in the hills).

Moursund had a sack of silver under his arm. He set it down with a bang on top of an idle radiator in the committee room. The cash jingled. Representatives Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, chairman of the inquiry group, raised his eyebrows.

The Johnson City "country" banker had brought $130 worth in silver to exchange for nickels at an Austin bank. He wanted to see a newspaper man and didn't know the nature of the work going on in that committee room. Imagine his embarrassment when he was informed privately that the committee was bringing a bag of money into the presence of folk who are trying to find out about job buying.

A whispered conversation with the reporter and Moursund gathered up his money sack and hurried out of the room. He explained later that he had accumulated in a country bank "There just doesn't seem to be any demand for dimes," he explained. "Everyone wants nickels in our town. The cash registers seem to be full with dimes. They are unwanted. Had to come here so I brought along all the dimes in town to change them into five cent pieces. Not trying to buy a job, at all. I have one big job listening to hard luck stories of borrowers."

MODERATE IMPROVEMENT IN CONSUMED DEMAND FOR MEATS ALSO IN EVIDENCE

The improvement in the feed ration tended to check the marketing of cattle during September, with the result that slaughter in that month showed a smaller increase than in July and August. To a considerable extent this reduced the marketing of cattle to the hope that some improvement in prices might take place, but in spite of the continuing decline in prices, especially for low-grade cows, the marketing of the cattle both from the corn belt and the Western States are expected to be large relative to years since 1927, during the remainder of 1935.

A black and white fashion illustration of a woman standing. She is wearing a long, knee-length dress with a high collar and long sleeves. The dress is covered in a dense, intricate pattern of small, dark, irregular shapes on a lighter background. She is also wearing a headband with a large, ornate floral or leaf-like ornament on the side. Her right hand is tucked into a pocket or a small bag at her waist, and her left hand is holding a small, light-colored clutch bag. She is wearing high-heeled shoes. The background consists of large, dark, geometric shapes, possibly stylized leaves or abstract patterns, creating a textured, almost woven appearance. The overall style is reminiscent of mid-20th-century fashion illustrations.
